

Lemon Experiment

-
- roll the lemon to break up the juice packets inside
 - stick one galvanized (covered in Zinc) nail and one copper coin
 - Zinc is the anode, which means it is getting oxidized, aka it is losing electrons
 - Copper is the cathode which means it is getting reduced aka it is gaining electrons
 - the lemon juice is the electrolyte